Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a check for mother's subscription to the paper.

She is fairly well and last Wednesday went to Kansas City, Mo., to spend the winter with my sister.

We, Mother and I would like you to know how much we enjoy two special features in the paper, "Looking Backward" and Mr. Reuling's "Reveille on the Jordan."

We like the little stories Mrs. Secord uses better than just news items culled from the old files.

Please note mothers change of address.

Sincerely Yours,
Fern Howard Townsend

Because of his death we pledge renewed devotion to the cause for which he gave his last full measure of devotion. This is a county project sponsored by Red Cross and to make it possible to insure the bleeding unit coming to our county it was necessary to assure 65 donors a day for four days from the county. This has been done and East Jordan will want to do their full share and more if possible. Will any person who plans to donate, Help by signing and getting appointments soon as possible? To date not enough signers have been secured from East Jordan but the committee feels that the community will give its full support to this as they have always done and an early and generous response will be greatly appreciated.

New Rulings Relative To Mail For Men In The Service

The War Department in cooperation with the Post Office Department will return all mail for soldiers overseas which is improperly or completely addressed, it was announced recently by Colonel S. D. Ringsdorf, District Commander, District No. 1, Sixth Service Command, Army Service Forces.

Colonel Ringsdorf explained that: "Effective October 1, 1943, all insufficiently and incorrectly addressed mail and second class publications received at ports of embarkation will be returned to the senders without directory service being given. In the case of publications of the second class, only the address portions of wrappers will be returned to publishers."

Mail addressed to overseas Army personnel must show, in addition to the name and address of sender, the soldier's name, rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, A. P. O. number and post office through which the mail is to be routed. An example of the proper address:

Pvt. John Doe (19743682)
Company F 167 Infantry,
A. P. O. 810, c/o Postmaster
New York, N. Y.,

According to Colonel Ringsdorf, mail to Army personnel within the continental United States should be similarly addressed, except that the inscriptions "c/o Postmaster" should be omitted.

This Game Goes To East Jordan

HARBOR SPRINGS LOSES 7-6 IN HOMECOMING LAST SATURDAY

Striking hard in every department of play East Jordan ran over Harbor Springs here Saturday, but only managed to beat them by a 7-6 score.

Showing a complete reversal of form from the Boyne game, the boys blocked and tackled like demons and had Harbor on defense through-out the game. East Jordan made ten first downs in the game while Harbor failed to make one all afternoon. The Jordanites most powerful play was of tackle smashes at either side of the line with the left side being the one pulverized by the Jordan backs.

Harbor Springs vaunted passing attack was stopped cold by the "Red and Black" defense and their running game was stopped by the Jordan forward wall.

East Jordans score came early in the second quarter on a sustained 50 yard drive down the field by the Jordan team. Murphy went off tackle from the 7 yard line for the score. On the same play over right tackle Murphy also made the extra point.

Harbor scored late in the last quarter on an intercepted pass which was thrown out in the "flat" and a Harbor back caught it and went 60 yards to score. Harbors try from placement failed by inches and the scoring was over for the afternoon.

Murphy, East Jordan's back, was the outstanding ball player on the field all afternoon, ripping the Harbor line to shred's with his lightning like thrusts into the line. He must have averaged at least 7 yards per try in the game.

Jack Somerville and Kitson played nice games for the Jordanites as did Parker Seiler in the backfield. Capt. Perry worked good on a quick opening play thru center which caught Harbor by surprise time and time again. Lord also seemed to be in every play.

Every man on the Jordan team played a good game and really showed the stuff that makes champions by beating a team that easily whipped them earlier in the season.

Coach Damoth must be complimented on whipping up his team to a fighting pitch for this game. Someone heard a Harbor fan say "this simply can't be the same team that we played at home." Well, it was, only they were a foot-ball machine this time.

BOYNE CITY THERE ARMISTICE DAY

East Jordan plays Boyne City over there Nov. 11th Armistice Day. Every team that has beaten East Jordan this year in the first game has suffered defeat the second time they have tackled us.

Let's all go over to Boyne Nov. 11th. and see if they can keep that record. I have a hunch that if they play like they did against Harbor, they will beat Boyne this time.

Let's all go to Boyne and watch our boys win Armistice Day. It's the last game of the season so let's wind it up with some real support for our boys. Let's go "Red and Black."

Turkeys For Civilians

An estimated eight million pounds of turkey remains on foot on Michigan farms to provide the holiday meals of many families in the State, with an estimate that for the three year-end holidays an equal amount probably will be shipped into Michigan from other States.

Growers, with facilities and the available labor, should study price ceilings, advises O. E. Shear, MSC extension poultryman. Feather dressed or even oven-dressed birds may pay sizeable returns over sales of live birds.

Red Cross Report

On October 20 the Surgical Dressing volunteers of Charlevoix County Red Cross completed one year of work. We have made and shipped 165,000 dressings during the year, & must ship 46,200 dressings more before Christmas. Four of these boxes were shipped to Kansas City, Kans., The others were shipped to different medical depots in Colorado.

East Jordan has made a third of these dressings. It has taken us 7160 hours of work to complete our quota.

The attendance this fall has not been all that was expected. We hope more will come to help us get this quota out before Christmas. The next few weeks will be busy ones for the Red Cross volunteers, as we also have 100 kits to make for the Navy before Christmas. If you can only give one afternoon a week won't you help the Red Cross NOW?

We wish to express our thanks to the Board of Education for the use of the school building during the past year. To Mr. Conway and Mr. Green who have given so much of their time sweeping up our threads. To Sophia Skrocki for typing our labels and reports. To Frances Benson for lettering boxes: We also wish to thank Mr. Harry Saxon for hauling our boxes from the depot free of charge. To the Mayor of East Jordan and the Presbyterian Church for use of tables in our work room.

"Bloomin' Proud" of Youths' Behavior

EAST JORDAN APPRECIATES WAY ITS YOUTH CELEBRATED HALLOWE'EN

Another Hallowe'en has come and gone and East Jordan is proud of its youth, as Kipling would say, "bloomin' proud." The youth had a good time, some of them had a hilarious good time, and their "batting average" for their regard for the property and the feelings of others has given them an entrance into the charmed circle of the devotees of the golden rule.

Friday afternoon the children in the grades were treated to cider and doughnuts furnished by the citizen's committee. It was real cider, made from real apples, the kind the oldsters looked forward to years ago. It was cider, sweet and made especially to meet the most fastidious taste of those who love children. And the doughnuts made you think of those that mother made, and of which we still talk.

In one grade room the children rose in unison and in a manner that tested the tensile strength of the ceiling said "thank you" The look on their faces would transform an iceberg into steam.

Saturday evening a party was staged for those of the High School and Junior High. The teachers helped, and without their aid the party would have been tame. After the games some of the men of the community poured cider and served doughnuts. To tell how much was consumed would be telling tales out of school, but it was a sight some will not forget to see the men go around and solicit the young people to drink more and to eat more, and to find not a one but who reached the capacity of good judgement, and in some instances the capacity of desire.

At the Rotary meeting on Tuesday of this week mention was made of the fine behavious of our East Jordan youth and C. W. Sidebotham was appointed to write an expression of appreciation for the young people to be printed in the "Herald." We do appreciate our youth; we want them to have the best possible time; and we want them to know that the older people have a tip-top time when the younger ones are having a "swell" time.

Just a suggestion to the young people. These hallowe'en parties can be even more successful of the citizens know what you would like. While the present party is fresh in your minds sit down and write constructive suggestions for the party for 1944. In what ways do you think the one next year should be "different?" Mail your suggestions to Rotary Club and the committee next year will do its best to see that the party for 1944 measures up to what you think it should be. Meanwhile we want you to know that your fun and your "batting average" for the feelings of others has given the older ones a real thrill.

In some ways it is hardly fair to publish the names of those who contributed to the expense, for many others would have done so had they been asked. But there is the white list of those who got in their contributions before the committee had to say — "lay off, we have enough."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Muddy Terrain Slows Drive in Italy As Nazis Strengthen Mountain Posts; Germany Rushes Troops to Bolster Broken Defense Lines on Red Front

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Marines are shown hauling 155 mm. rifle through mud to new position on tropical Rendova island in the central Solomons. Known as "Long Toms," these 155 mm. field pieces soon went to work to hurl shells into Jap posts seven miles away.

ITALY:
New Difficulties

To add to the Allies' difficulties in Italy, heavy rain has slogged the countryside, and new burdens have been imposed on the lines of communication bringing supplies to the front.

Because of the inability of motor vehicles to operate over the muddy and mountainous terrain, the Allies are relying increasingly on horses, burros and mules. But they are finding it hard to obtain them since the Germans took most of these animals out of southern Italy or shot those they could not take, and the Fighting French have been unwilling to give up the horses, etc., they have in North Africa for fear of breaking up their mounted units.

Encouraged by Allied difficulties, Nazi Marshal Kesselring reportedly has reinforced his army fighting a dogged delaying action in the rugged country. After retreating from the Volturno river line, the Germans took up positions on the 2,500-foot-high Massico ridge, where they were expected to make another stand before dropping back to the mountains farther north.

Try to Maintain Morale

On October 17, 1918, Germany's General Eric Ludendorff declared: "The tension of the individual man has reached a degree which cannot be increased."

Not long after Germany cracked under the strain, and steely, dynamic General Ludendorff fell apart with the rest. Today, Germany's Hitler, Goebbels and Goering remember 1918, and the Nazis are working feverishly to hold up the people's morale against the Allies' shattering air attacks.

Hitler has ordered the construction of underground concrete hospitals in battle zones, as well as first aid posts and auxiliary hospitals in the cellars of the most solid buildings. Newspapers are carrying on a concerted campaign to educate the people in treatment of eye injuries caused by the heat, smoke, dust, glass-splinters and phosphorus clouds generated by bombing raids.

HOME FRONT:
FDR Meets Labor Leaders

Answering labor's complaint against the stabilization of wages in the face of 5 per cent increase in the cost of living since last year, President Roosevelt promised AFL and CIO leaders that the retail prices would be rolled back through producers' or processors' subsidies.

FDR met with the labor leaders even as there were rumblings of discontent among the railway unions over wage raises. The non-operating railway union was kicking because Economic Stabilization Director Fred Vinson had set aside an eight-cents-an-hour pay boost recommended by a government mediation board, while the operating railway unions claimed they were "insulted" by another mediation panel's award of a four-cents-an-hour increase after they had asked for three dollars a day.

In hearings before the War Labor board, Alabama and eastern coal operators objected to a new contract between Illinois operators and the United Mine Workers, which would boost daily wages between $1.50 and $1.75 by increasing the working day to 8½ hours, including all travel time to and from the pits.

RUSSIA:
Nazis' 'Darkest Hour'

As Russian troops poured across the Dnieper river and promised to trap 1,000,000 German soldiers from the rear, word came from Berlin that the Nazis admitted they faced their darkest hour.

Upon the shoulders of Hitler's army fell the gigantic task of blunting the Russian drive before it could roll southward across the southern Ukraine's broad plains and trap the Germans from behind while they held the line against other Red forces attacking from the front.

As the German lines sagged, the Nazis were reported rushing thousands of troops from the Crimea, immediately to the south. In Melitopol, German and Russian soldiers fought in the streets of the ruined city, with enemy machine gunners operating from charred buildings to delay the Reds' advance.

Both sides sustained heavy losses in men and materiel.

Big Three Meet

Behind the high walls of Russia's forbidding Kremlin, U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov started conferences designed to bring their countries closer together in the military, political and economic fields.

(Top to bottom) Hull, Eden Molotov

While Molotov was expected to raise the issue of the U. S. and Britain opening a second front in western Europe to draw off some of the 200 German divisions facing Russia in the east, it was said Hull and Eden would attempt to persuade the Reds to reconsider their demands for postwar annexation of the Baltic states and parts of Poland, Rumania and Finland.

As the conferees met, it was announced the U. S., Britain and Canada had entered into a new lend-lease agreement with Russia, promising her additional food and military supplies this winter.

48-HOUR WEEK:
For More Production

To meet the demand for record production, the War Manpower commission ordered 71 different areas to go on a 48 hour week, and advised 112 others to prepare to shift to the longer work period.

To make up for the shortage of manpower, the WMC determined on the 48 hour week to get more production per person. Previously, the 48 hour week had been in effect in 40 out of 71 areas where the WMC had declared a labor scarcity existed. Now, the remaining 31 areas must go on the longer week.

In the other 112 areas, the WMC saw the possibility of a labor shortage. If such a shortage impends, preparations will be made to meet it before it occurs to interfere with production.

The 48-hour week already has been instituted in such industries as logging, non-ferrous mining and smelting, and iron and steel.

In the Headlines . . .

Ellis Arnall

Accustomed to returning to darkened cells, incorrigibles of Georgia's state prison were surprised to find their quarters ablaze with light one night and radios available.

The changes were in line with Governor Ellis Arnall's sweeping prison reform, marked by legislative action to ban whipping and shackles, and liquidation of the dreaded chain gang camps.

When 93-year-old Civil war vet Frank M. Frary died in Denver, Colo., recently, it was discovered that he had been carrying $81,610 in his vest pocket for the last two years.

A retired conductor from the Burlington railroad, Frary had converted securities into cash two years ago, and kept the money wrapped in brown paper in his vest pocket up to his death. Twenty-six relatives share in his estate.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:
Japs Build Air Bases

While they are slowly being squeezed out of the Solomons and central New Guinea, the Japanese are feverishly constructing a string of bomber and fighter bases on the Celebes islands and the Dutch East Indies to the west.

Reconnaissance by Allied planes reveals that the Japs have laid many new concrete runways in these territories, and are laying up stores of supplies in warehouses spread around these air centers.

Apparent purpose of these air bases is to thwart any move General MacArthur might make against the rich oil, quinine and tin lands of the Indies from Australia to the east, or Lord Mountbatten might make from India to the north.

WORLD WAR II:
Toughest Yet

Japan is building more planes than we are destroying, and she has not as yet called all of her eligible draftees or young men between the ages of 17 and 20, U. S. military experts told congressmen in secret session.

Because the Japs have 500,000 soldiers massed within striking distance, the Allies would be confronted with difficult problems of defense in case Russia granted the U. S. bombing bases in Siberia, the congressmen were told.

The military experts declared that the Germans were concentrating their fighter planes on breaking up Allied bombing formations, and that, in many cases, the German pilots were purposely colliding with our big sky fortresses.

GOLD:
U. S. Holds Two-thirds

Of the world's gold supply of 33 billion dollars, the U. S. holds 22 billion dollars, or two-thirds, while the British Empire controls almost four billion dollars.

Of the remaining gold supply, over four billion dollars is in the hands of Germany and Japan as a result of their conquests. Germany itself possesses no more than 29 million dollars of gold, while Japan has 164 million dollars. South American gold stocks approximate one billion dollars.

Interest in the gold supply heightened with indications that the U. S. and Britain intended to make the precious metal the basis for world currency after the war, with the value of all money being founded upon the gold reserve behind it.

SCHOOL BILL:
Killed in Senate

Following adoption of an amendment by Senator William Langer (N. D.) against racial discrimination in the use of funds, the senate killed the 300 million dollar public education bill.

Senator William Langer

Under terms of the bill, states would have received 200 million dollars in federal funds for school uses during the war, and 100 million dollars in additional permanent grants. Major portions of the money would have gone toward increasing teachers' salaries.

In introducing his amendment, Senator Langer said some states would not apportion the money equitably for the benefit of all races. Despite Senator Langer's assertion, the Negro teachers' association and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Children supported the bill.

BUTTER

A new butter extender called "Dyne" has been developed by the dairy department of the University of Wisconsin. It will be on the market shortly, says Dr. K. G. Weckel of the college of agriculture.

"While the product is not a substitute for butter," he explains, "it is expected that it will ease the demand for butter and oleomargarine."

It is made wholly of dairy products, and is of the consistency of cream cheese.

Battle Tides to Influence 1944 Political Campaign

Close Observers Change Minds, Express Belief President Will Not Be Candidate if War Ends by Spring.

As the political campaign, which will be over in a short year, begins to increase in tempo, it is interesting to note that noticeable shock recorded by the reporters at a recent White House press and radio conference when the President tossed off that phrase "when I am out of the White House."

Taken in the context, it was immediately clear that the President did not delimit the time element in this statement and there was no real justification for the startled pause when pencils stopped scribbling and heads and eyebrows went up at the presidential remark. Mr. Roosevelt was merely pointing out, in connection with the postwar rubber situation, that he believed that any proposed tariff to protect the synthetic rubber plants after the war should be vetoed, and he implied that any President who vetoed such a measure might stir up a lot of opposition from the synthetic rubber manufacturers.

But we have become so accustomed to the idea that Mr. Roosevelt himself thinks only in terms of his own regime without time or other limitations, that an expression which seemed to indicate the opposite naturally caused a stir.

However, it is entirely possible that Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate in 1944. There are even those who enjoy making rash prophecies who are already saying he has made up his mind not to run at all under any circumstances. This type of prediction is accepted in Washington as being in that class of guesses which have about a 40-60 chance of being right.

But closer observers who do not choose to guess the President's inner thoughts but are thoroughly familiar with his manner of thinking, deduce, from what they believe is past experience, that he will not be a candidate if the war is over by next spring. This is contrary to earlier prognostications that his desire to be President when the blue-prints for the postwar world are being drawn would incline him toward running for a fourth term. The explanation is that he will not run unless he has more than an even chance of winning.

End of Conflict

Although none of the army or navy officers of the top command will allow themselves to be quoted as saying the war will end early in 1944, a number of bolder and less constrained military folk are willing to say this is possible.

It is interesting to consider that a year ago this summer, when many believed that invasion of northern Europe by the Allies would be undertaken by the spring of 1943, few people were predicting, even under such circumstances, an end of the war early in 1944. Take for instance a typical comment in a leading periodical (Harper's) written very little over a year ago in which it was said that Germany must complete the conquest of key positions in Russia, must halt or control the Anglo-American onslaught from the air, and must hold northern Africa for a sortie in the Middle East. When we consider what has happened since, we can see the progress which has been made. Far from any action in which the word "conquest" could be used, the Wehrmacht in Russia has been driven beyond its last Russian defense lines in many places. The dream of an African empire has become the reality of bitter defeat and despite desperate defense measures, the most powerful air blows are being struck against the Reich.

Japanese Situation

Within the year, Japan's power has begun to crumble at a rate and in a manner which makes it plain that she will not have to be beaten back island by island and every Jap on foreign soil killed. The Mikado's "unconquerables" have become exceedingly adept at getting away from points once expected to be last stands, with remarkable alacrity and apparent satisfaction in their own retreatability.

Therefore, it is not at all impossible that the President, if he intends voluntarily to retire with the end of the fighting, means that he will be "out of the White House" at his own behest, before the ides of November, '44.

This situation, if it does arise, imposes an interesting problem for the Democrats. It is pretty generally agreed that the conservative element in the Democratic party has been gaining in power in the last months when the President bestowed positions of key importance on the right wing of the party while many New Dealers faded into the background.

When Vice President Wallace, whom it was taken for granted would be the President's choice as a successor, was dropped and his activities placed in the more conservative hands of Messrs. Hull, Crowley, et al., it was plain that the original New Dealers were being relegated to the rear of the hall.

GOP Attitude

And while the burning highlights of the administration portrait are being toned down to more sober hues, the Republicans seem to be outdoing themselves in an effort to show that they can make use of the bright lexicon of youth as a reference work and select from it promising shibboleths who speak of action rather than reaction.

Of course, Mr. Willkie does not speak for the Republican party but he has a following which his supporters hope will be reinforced by disgruntled former New Dealers as well as others whose leanings, although they have never been such that they could wholeheartedly support a Democratic regime, are still far enough left to demand the most progressive candidate offered under any other respectable banner.

Meanwhile, of course, the President must, according to the inviolable principles of politics, show no signs of intending to withdraw, since it is written that you can't control your party unless there is a fair chance that you are going to continue to be its active head.

Our political campaign of 1944 is bound to be affected by the tide of battle abroad.

General Arnold Explains

On a mild day, with the Virginia countryside warm in the glow of autumn, and the Potomac sparkling in the sunlight, some 50 newsmen—correspondents, columnists, radio commentators—climbed up the wide stone steps of the river entrance to the famous Pentagon building.

General Arnold, chief of America's army air forces, took his seat and began to talk. The gist of his words you have read. What he felt can only be guessed but he was faced with the proposition of "explaining the obvious" and he seemed just a little weary at the prospect. Arnold is a pleasant but blunt-spoken fighting man with wings and service ribbons won in service.

A few days before, he happened to listen to a commentator who was computing in dollars and lives and material the cost of the bombing raid of the great ball-bearing factory in Schweinfurt, Germany.

The general was exceedingly irked. What the commentator did not perhaps realize was the number of endless explanations of "the obvious" which General Arnold has had to make since we entered the war. And if Germany does crumble because her war effort is smashed, it will be Arnold's explanations as well as the bombs themselves that ought to get the credit.

If he had not been able to "explain" that American bombers could fly in sufficient numbers into the heart of Germany in the light of day and hit a target with the precision to destroy it, we would never have a chance to prove it could be done. There were few in high places either here or in Britain who believed such an absurd, untried thing was practical. But he had his chance and proved his thesis. Then, when the experts were convinced, when he was beginning to swing into action, the public began to exclaim at the cost of his raids. That must have been hard to take.

And so he sat for an hour reeling off figures, recounting details which will never be printed until peace comes and, most effective of all for the layman, showing the greatly enlarged photographs of the destruction these great daylight precision raids accomplished.

Reveille on the Jordan

Just a little message to the boys in the service from the folks back home. Sponsored by the East Jordan Community Service Club.

ED REULING — EDITOR

Dear Friends:

For once on a Sunday morning I'm not lacking something to write about. Facts are I'm just mad enough to, as usual, say more than I should.

What burns me up is this. I have been told by someone who should know that, one of the reasons you fellows who are still on this side of the pond do not write oftener, and do not come home every chance you get, is because you hesitate to face a critical home town who might ask "What's that fellow still doing in this country?" If I may be permitted a gentle cuss I'll say it's a blankety blank dirty lie. The facts are that yours truly, and, all of the folks back home, know that all of you chaps in the service, whether you be on this side or the other, are where you are because that's where your Uncle Sam says you should be. If any of you by any stretch of your imaginations figure that the folks back home are critical because you are still here, or, write quite often, you are certainly badly mistaken. I wouldn't know where you get such ideas because really, fellows, us hicks up here in Northern Michigan are, for sure, going all out for all of you, and I mean all of you who are in the service, anytime, anyplace, any everything.

If you want to argue about it let's see you top this one. The facts are that our participation in this bloody mess is being very capably managed by the very best men available, and, by men I mean generals and admirals, not politicians. In my humble opinion those guys know what they are doing and where they are going. If they say to you, Pvt. John Doe, that your skills can be utilized to your Uncle Sam's greatest advantage over any period of time you want to talk about, by you first getting some top notch schooling for 12, 24, 36 or 92 weeks, or, by you performing some obscure but vital task here in the good old USA, or doing anything else they may ask of you, then you may be sure that the spot you now find yourself, is just as important to all of the folks back home here, as those fox holes about 140 of our lads have dug for themselves over there. It's true that a lot of our boys have entered the service & gone right up to our front lines without ever getting a chance to say a second good-by to mom and dad and the rest of us folks back home. For that we are truly and sincerely sorry. We wish it could have been otherwise — BUT — it's what old Thor might call "The fortunes of war." It has been the luck of the draw for some of you to be shipped out and for others of you to stay here. To you fellows still here I say "Wherever you are, whatever you may be doing, for heaven's sake don't feel ashamed of it. You are still in the service of your Uncle Sam and the folks back home are proud of you for it. Just remember that always."

Your faithful correspondent and friend, Ed Reuling.

HOME TOWN CHATTER

Wow! What a game! EJHS 7, Harbor 6 and Harbor didn't make a single first down. Hope Bill really winds up and takes off this week and gives you a full report. Iffy the Dopester says "Delandos Est Berlino". I say "Delandoes Est Boynecityo." (or something like that).

Our own Red Head BOB JOYNT, got himself a full column of space in the Oct. 29th Detroit Free Press when he wrote in to take Tony Weitzel, that papers Town Crier, to task for what he has said about the East Jordan & Southern R. R. Bob's letter (about 700 words) was quoted in full. He attempted to describe the E. J. & S. during boom days as well as now. He made some disparaging remarks as 17½ miles in 1¼ hrs. stopping to avoid running down bears, pauses to hew Christmas Trees, dating the RR for rides across the River Jordan to fishing and hunting grounds, etc. Anyone who didn't know the E. J. & S. would think Bob was poking fun at us. Facts are the guy was serious, and, I believe, though now a big shot executive, just a bit homesick for the old home town. He finished off his literary effort by saying "So you see Mr. Weitzel, I am very proud of East Jordan and I must object to any remark about any part of my town." Those last two words "My Town" were what stuck in my crop. I sure hope all of the rest of you East Jordanites get your dander equally as high as Bob's when anyone attempts to slander or libel us.

Servicemen with whom I have rubbed elbows during the week are Oggie Woodcock, Bud Porter, Bill Bennett, Glenn Weiler, George Trojanek and Bud Haney. It would be fun, for once, to quote some of my conversations with those guys. I'm afraid, however, my censors would have a fit. For example, I could, but won't, tell you what OGGIE did, and didn't, do to celebrate his 21st birthday last night. The guy really is a big man and all sailor. He figures about another short stretch will finish him off at Mt. Pleasant and he will then be one notch closer to the coveted Ensign's commission. I think he'll make it. Or, I could tell you how Sgt. BILL keeps things stirred up out at the Metropolitan Airport, VanNuys, Calif. Any of you guys out that way can find him in the Field Hospital. Facts are Bill figures his new spot is doing him good because he was too close to Hollywood before. Anyhow, says he, our training is over and maybe soon we will take off. Then maybe I should tell you about what GEORGE is doing in the MP's at Pickett, Va. He and CARL GRUTSCH are in the same company. George took his furlough now, Carl finagled his for around Nov. 15th. (You weren't figuring on a four legged deer were you Carl?). According to George those two guys are all set and ready to go. If they are lucky they wll be assigned to guarding prisoners and shuttle back and forth between the USA and all of our several fronts. If they are not so lucky they will draw a tough MP assignment over there. BUD HANEY came in from Camp Wolters, Texas, and his orders call for him returning to Fort Meade, Maryland. Such a shift while on furlough is the first time in my experience reporting things like that. Bud doesn't know why, but, he does understand that it hits the pocketbook because no round trip ticket rates were available. The fellow looks tops and reports his Infantry outfit ready and willing. GLENN came in from Glendale, Cal. and brought his February California bride, Dorothy, with him. She was home with Glenn when he was here some six months ago but at that time she was so new Glenn kept her away from the office. This time they visited me together. Glenn figures he is one of Uncle Sam's luckiest soldiers. He has an ordnancy trucking job at vital work and is doing well. The luck part is that it looks like a permanent spot for the duration in a good climate, a small camp, a class A pass, and his wife right handy to keep up his morale. BUD PORTER made it home between semesters from the U. of Marquette at Milwaukee. As sailors go Bud is just another Apprentice Seaman — but look out for that guy when his schooling is over and he puts on that first Ensign's gold stripe. He'll be weilding a knife and might be cutting your gizzard out because he'll be one of Uncle Sam's new M. D's. Bud might not hit the beam as heavy as some of you but I'll wager he can bump his head on a higher spot than any of you. We really have to look up to catch the familiar EJHS friendly grin. It was swell seeing all of you and a pleasure to meet you, Dorothy Weiler. Here's luck and good hunting friends. Be sure and keep us posted.

I wish some of our hunting and fishing experts hereabouts would work up a squib or two on how things are going up here out-of-doors. A majority of you have had a lot of happy hours hunting and fishing up here, and, have asked in your letters for more details. Actually I'm a punk fisherman and an unlucky hunter. facts are I don't know enough about either sport to even try and give you a report. The old timers tell me there is lots of game but not many takers. Maybe the good provider is saving it until you fellows get back home. Hope someone takes this hint and turns in a thesis entitled "Hunting and Fishing on the Jordan."

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

During the week the Grand Rapids Herald came out with a story about the 126th Inf. It told how the outfit was originally National Guard, was filled out with Northern Michigan men, got Louisiana maneuvers and then shoved off for Tokyo. Among other things it described the important part it played in the many battles on New Guinea. It was swell reading and I lapped it up until I came to the part where they told about Co. L being the lost company and having to fight it out for 30 days while completely surrounded by Japs. I knew that our Dale Richner, Frank Cihak, Carlton Smith and Tiny Cihak were with that company when the going was the roughest and I really stepped up my reading pace to get to the end to find out how they came out. The end was that those lads fought their way out and did a magnificent job in doing so. I tell you it made the old back bone tingle, particularly so, because I am fairly sure that all of those lads are safe and sound today and ready for more. You four guys today, to me, and, to all the rest of the folks back home, are the toast of the town. We are mighty proud of you The bad, but not too bad, news of the week s about a paratrooper who has braved many a hop out of a plane, had participated in the invasion of Sicily as such, only to wind up a casualty because his jeep tried to tangle wtih a 2½ ton truck one night after things had quieted down. It's our Lt. Cecil Gibbard I'm talking about. Just now he is doing bed fatigue in Sicily with a busted shin and other minor ailments. That's hard lines, Cecil. Here's wishing you a quick mending, plus, all the luck in the world. Write when you can. I missed reporting that BILL VRONDRAN was home from Oct. 2nd to 13th on an emergency furlough. I didn't see him so didn't know. Just know Bill is getting the finishing touches with an Eng. Combat Bn. at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. A report is due, Bill. I'm not gong to be caught short in three instances I know of because the word is that BRUCE ROBINSON makes it in from Montana tonight, JERRY DAVIS from Texas right soon and very probably BRUCE BARTLETT will breeze in too. If I make contact with those guys I'll give you a better report. Somone also told me that we could expect SMOKEY ANTOINE. Hope it's true — I sure would like to see if the Camp Barkely, Texas, sun is as hot as you guys claim. Does anyone know where TOM CARSON is? We have been notified he is no longer at Camp Callan, Cal. and have had to take his name off the mailing list because we don't have a new address. Th same goes for GEORGE SECORD. We hear he is popping back and forth across the pond with convoys and that his army postoffice will not hold papers for him until he returns. If you read this, George, couldn't you figure out someplace we could send them so you would be sure they would be held — Or don't you have someone in every port you hit you could trust? I hear that Marine ARCHIE GRAHAM has finished anti aircraft and communication schools and is on the move again. Am not just sure where Archie is but have a hunch he is getting considerably closer to Tokyo FRANCIS TOUCHSTONE complains that he hasn't received a paper since June. It's been mailed out every week, Francis. Now that we have your correct APO maybe it will get through better. It's good to know that you are O.K. Write when you can. FLOYD HART, JOHN BEYER and CLIFFORD GREEN have all gone across since my last report. They all are on the Atlantic side and I think Floyd is in England although am not too sure about that. Here's luck to you fellows. Keep us posted. Marine LEVI McPHERSON made Pfc. after he went across and has just recently been running a switchboard someplace in the Pacific. He figures he is right in luck because the marines out where he is see all the movies as soon as we get them back home here. GALEN SEILER asked for Bill Sturgell and Tom Joynt's address. He isn't too far from Oakland, Calif., and promises to look Bill up. He is just about through with flight training at St. Mary's and will shove off for primary training soon. If you see Bill, or, hear from Tom, let us know sailor. JOHN BEEBE reported in from the middle of the Mojave desert. He expects a furlough will be coming up in about six weeks and he is going to take off from his spot at Camp Haan for home just about as fast as he can. He thinks army life is OK but desert life just a bit too rugged. Thanks for writing, John, try it again. DESMOND JOHNSON reports a shift up in Alaska. He can't say just where, but it's his guess that before too long he will be closer to Tokyo than any other East Jordan serviceman. Your letter was pretty well snipped up by the censor, Desmond. Tell him for me he makes it quite difficult to make much out of your letter. Had you not written on both sides of the sheet it probably wouldn't have been quite so garbled. BILL SAXTON is getting the know how as a B-24 mechanic. I sent him Capt. ERV. (doc) BRENNER'S address in New Orleans and the two Bills, SAXTON and WALDEN, may look him up. If you see a B-24 flying backward down that way, Erv., you will know that our East Jordan machinist had something to do with it. . . . GEORGE ROGERS and EUGENE GREGORY both reported in from England during the week. They both are in good spirits and like their work. Eugene says that if JACK BOWMAN comes that way as a gunner he is sure to see him. We don't know when Jack will take off, but, have a hunch it won't be long now. George figures to make it to London soon and is planning on a visit with Dorothy Clark there. Why don't all of you fellows in England contact Dorothy. I can't print your addresses but I don't think Uncle Sam will kick if I tell you Dorothy's is 75th WAC Post Hq. Co., Hq. 8th Fighter Command. If you write to her and give her your address maybe she can act as the London branch of the East Jordan Clearing House and help those of you who are in England get together. We'd like right well to read about a big East Jordan reunion over there. BOB BENNETT got the list of East Jordan sailors I ran awhile back and is keeping his weather eye peeled for their ships. He says he can't say much but "to send those doughboys and leathernecks a gobs salute and let them know that we will be following along." The salute is executed, Bob. Thanks for writing. EZRA THOMPSON reported in from North Africa and says he is in a good outfit and that they will be on the move again. He had just received the Aug. 20th paper when he wrote Sept. 30th which sounds like 40 days in transit. Try writing again fellow. BILL WALDEN reports that he goes to school from 2 to 9 a. m. and all instructors, except one, are women. He likes learning to work around planes, but, could use some better hours to get his learning. DONALD BOLSER reported in from Camp Haan. If you want to see someone from home, Don, look up John Beebe in Btry. A of the same kind of an outfit as yours whose number is 9 more than yours. John, you can find Don in Btry. D. CARL KAMRADT is getting to like his work at Wendover Field, Utah, but still would like different hours than midnight to 6 a. m. He figures on adding the third stripe right soon now. Hope it comes through, Carl. Thanks for writing. SONNY HOSLER is going to fight for dough. He apparently has made a good connection with a manager and is going to take on some toughies in Baltimore when he can get away from camp. Here's luck to you, Sonny. Will you be fighting at 171 or take some off? MASON CLARK gave us the dope on what's doing at Carpus Christi. He likes it very much and, unlike other marines, has a good opinion of navy chow. When his six months course is finished down there he will be a finished rader technician and can also teach judo, bayonet fighting and what have you. Sounds tough to me. According to BOB WOOD he and TY KEMP have made connections at Camp Gruber. They both are in the Rainbow division and says Bob "The food is good and we have a swell bunch of officers. Most of them have seen action so they know what it is all about." It's good to know that, thanks for writing soldier. RED GEE says he made it back to Oklahoma in good time. He expects to shove off from there just about now for 2 months more training and then general sea duty. Keep us posted fellow. ED STANEK has reported a chance to pay his respects at the grave of CHARLEY KOTALIK over in Sicily. It's nice that you could do that Ed. You and Charley were always pretty good pals. Sailor REX (Jeep) GIBBARD apparently has been in the thick of things in the Pacific because he affirms what I already told you. A navy pill pusher is a sailors best friend. He also said "CHIEF Q. M. CHUM SIMMONS rates a four gun salute from this sailor as he is on the hardest working type of ship there is. Those boys do more and get less credit than any guy in the service. I only hope I get to see the 377" — Also — "I keep in touch with my two best pals. STURGELL and GEE. Just imagine me, Ed, a tar heel blue jacket associating with a marine and a soldier. Great life I say." Yes it is a great life, Jeep. Particularly so we can get a good chuckle out of it like we did out of your letter. Keep them coming.

And so once again I've reached the end of my rope. Someday maybe it will break but right now it's still fairly stout. Until next week, friends, its, as always, good luck and so long. Ed.

Mr. F. D. Russell of Ridgeway farms was able to be out of doors Wednesday, the first time in several weeks during which time he has been tusseling with a severe attack of flu.

Kenneth Russell and Orval Bennett cut buzz wood on the C. A. Crane place the first of the week and Kenneth skidded and had a crew help him buzz Saturday. They put out a nice heap of wood.

Egbert knew all the answers but ONE!

HE KNEW the capital of Afghanistan. He knew that Planesticus migratorius is the name for a robin. He knew that a theorbo is a musical instrument.

But he didn't know how much cheaper electricity is today than years ago!

Don't blame Egbert. It's easy not to realize how far electric prices have been reduced, because while they were coming down and down — Egbert's family, and families all over America, were adding new appliances and enjoying the use of more and more electricity!

But in any true-false quiz, you can mark this statement as true: The average American household today gets just about twice as much electricity for its money as it did fifteen years ago!

What helped make it true? Experienced business management. Years of doing a job efficiently and economically have given the men and women of your electric company the know-how to bring you friendly, dependable service at low prices — even in wartime!

There's a crowd on the lines

It's always a big crowd in these war days. But the long distance operator keeps the calls moving quickly unless there are just too many for the circuits. If she says the circuits are busy, you can help by canceling your call if it isn't really important. But if you can't cancel, the operator will request — "Please limit your call to 5 minutes." It's the work of war we are trying to speed over the wires.

The tax assessor's office had to decide on which side of the Maryland-Pennsylvania border an elderly woman's newly purchased farm lay. Surveyors finally announced it was just inside the Maryland border.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

To maintain the nation's essential motor transportation system, the American rubber tire industry will be called upon to make 30 million synthetic passenger car tires in 1944. The synthetic rubber program is being geared to permit such an output without hindering the military needs for rubber.

More than 65 per cent of the war materials reaching factories in Michigan travel on rubber-tired trucks, and 67 per cent of the finished products move out by truck. Proof that our national economy is closely bound with rubber.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former newspaper feature editor, has been inducted into the army and is nearing his completion of basic training at Fort Bragg, N. C. He has been classified as cook and in addition his failure to master some of the fundamentals of army training have resulted in considerable extra KP duty for him. He has also learned the finer points of "goldbricking" and "shooting the breeze." Hargrove has become editor of a section of the camp paper and these duties have kept him away from a lecture series. As we pick up the story, his sergeant is assigning him once more to KP for this infraction. Hargrove is trying to explain. He speaks:

CHAPTER XIV

"Sergeant, for days I round up news from battery reporters. There is always too much or too little. When there is too little, I have to write what is needed. When there is too much, I have to choose which battery reporter is going to horsewhip me for leaving his copy out."

"The chaplain is right up the street," the sergeant said.

"Then I have to edit all the copy, delete all classified military intelligence and take out all nasty cracks at first sergeants. Then I have to write headlines for all the stories and place them in whatever space I can find for them. Then I must draw everything up into pretty little pages. This is tedious and nerve-racking work."

"The chaplain will give you a sympathetic ear," the sergeant said. "I will give you only KP. Does anything you are saying relate to what we're talking about—why you weren't in the mess hall yesterday afternoon?"

"I was getting around to that, sergeant. On the day before the paper is issued, I have to go into Fayetteville to keep a careful watch over the printers, to see that they don't put Third Regiment news on the Fourth Regiment page. If I am not there, they may even mix headlines and put church notices under 'Service Club Activities.' It is necessary that I be there."

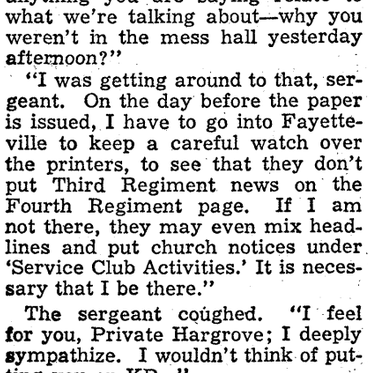

The sergeant coughed. "I feel for you, Private Hargrove; I deeply sympathize. I wouldn't think of putting you on KP—"

"You wouldn't?" I gasped eagerly.

"Don't interrupt," the sergeant barked. "As I was saying, I wouldn't think of putting you on KP—if you hadn't committed a breach of etiquette by failing to RSVP the invitaion. You didn't tell us you weren't coming. Or why."

I was dozing peacefully at my typewriter the other morning when there came a knock on my elbow and a bright young voice shouted "Hey!" at me. I looked up into the impish, cheerful, and unquenchably mischievous face of the boss' daughter, Miss Sidney Winkel, age four.

"Let's be reasonable, Pvt. Mulvehill," I said; "As you know, I am working on Capt. Winkle's sympathies to get a furlough."

Miss Winkel was dressed like the Navy and looked entirely too energetic for such a drizzly morning.

"I'm to be the Valentine," she said, "and Johnny's going to take my picture and you're to take me up to the Service Club and carry Johnny's things for him and wait for him to get there so you'd better put on your jacket and cap and let's go.

"I'm going to have my picture taken with Spud Parker," she added. Spud Parker is the general's son and is considered quite an eligible bachelor by the younger set.

"There's Tom in the cafeteria," she said. "Let's go see Tom."

Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill, Pfc., was apparently making his morning rounds in search of news. He was, at the moment, engaged in his daily research in the Service Club's toast and coffee.

"Hello, sis," he said. "Hello, McGee. Pull up a chair. McGee, get the lady a drink. Something tall and cool. Such as a chocolate milk. What's the deal, sis?"

"I'm to be the Valentine," she said, "and Johnny's going to take my picture and old Hargrove has to take care of Johnny's stuff until Johnny comes and I don't like him anyway because he makes faces and sticks out his tongue and says sticks and snails and puppy-dog tails that's what little girls are made of and he's not my boy friend anyway."

"No punctuation," I said. I waggled my ears and stuck out my tongue at her.

"The next time I come," she said, "I'm going to bring some soap and every time he sticks out his tongue I'm going to put soap on it because it isn't nice to stick out your tongue." She emphasized her statement by paralyzing my wrist with her fist and sticking her tongue out at me.

"Let's have no unnecessary vibrations, McGee," said the Lieuthomas, looking up reproachfully over his glasses. "Coffee is five cents the cup." He beamed at her. She beamed back at him.

"I have seven boy friends," she said, raising one forefinger delicately and rubbing the other against it in a highly jeering gesture. "I have seven boy friends and you're not one of them and you're not anybody's boy friend." She hit me this time on the elbow and I made a horrible face at her.

"Myaaah," I said. "Who wants to be your boy friend anyway?"

"I wish you wouldn't blow smoke," she said. "It makes me cough and it's not nice to smoke anyway. Old cigarettes!"

I wearily crushed my last cigarette in the ash tray. "Women, the eternal reformer," I sighed. "It wasn't like this in the Old Army."

Miss Sidney Winkel took off her sailor cap and arranged her big red hair ribbon. "You're a nasty old thing and you're not nice like Johnny and Tom and Lieutenant Meek and Captain Wilson and all my other boy friends," she said. After a pause she added, airily, "And Major Long and Captain Quillen, too."

"Myaah," I sighed, wrinkling my nose more violently.

"Oh there's Johnny," she suddenly cried, "and he's going to take my picture and—" She tripped off with a bewitching smile for Bushemi and a running line of babble.

"No punctuation," I said to Mulvehill.

"It's a woman's world, McGee," he said, reaching for another slice of toast.

"Get him away from me, Bushemi!" roared Private Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill. "He's got that gleam in his eye. Get him away!"

"You're just being difficult, Lieuthomas," I told him. "Just sit down and relax." The Lieuthomas laid his enormous frame on the bunk and started slapping his knees in utter despair.

"What kind of deal are you trying to swindle this time?" he asked.

"Let's be reasonable, Private Mulvehill," I said, patting him reassuringly on the shoulder. "As you know, I am now working on Captain Winkel's sympathies to get a furlough sometime in February . . . the first half of February."

"I know what's coming," he screamed. "And I won't do it! I can't do it!"

"Now, as you know, furloughs are laden with little expenses—necessary little expenses. To help me along with the load, Sergeant Sher and Private Bushemi have already made philanthropic little loans. I have your name on my honor roll here, Lieuthomas. What's the donation?"

The Mulvehill cringed and edged away. "What do you need—from me?"

"Well," I estimated, "I should say that ten dollars."

"Great gods and refugee children," he gasped. "Ten dollars he says yet! Why don't you ask me for my life's blood? Six dollars he owes me already and now he's asking—oh, I can't stand it! I can't stand it! Take him away!"

"My life's blood," he moaned. "Where's the six I lent you two months ago?"

"That was only five weeks ago," I reminded him gently, "and I've already paid two of that back. Three weeks ago I paid it back."

"Yeah," he protested, "but you borrowed it back the next day." He rose and paced the floor. "What are they doing to me? My life's blood they would draw from my veins? Thirty-six measly little dollars a month I make—and he wants ten dollars! Maybe I'm Winthrop Rockefeller I should lend out ten dollars a clip! Thirty-six dollars, and he wants half!"

"You see, Lieuthomas, a sad and work-worn creature—an Alice sit-by-the-fire whose only hope for the future is in the faint glimmering hope of a furlough. Day after day, week in and week out, I have worked my frail fingers to the shoulder blade to make things pleasant for you and Bushemi and Bishop. I have patched your quarrels with the mess sergeant. I have saved you from the terrible wrath of provoked Rebels. I have sat here at night, sewing buttons on my blouse so that you wouldn't have to wear it hanging open on your merry jaunts to town. Money could not pay for the things I have done for you and Bushemi. And now this. Ten dollars between me and spiritual starvation—and no ten dollars. How sharper than a serpent's tooth."

"Don't talk like that, Hargrove," he said, his voice cracking. "Put me down for ten."

There was a little note stuck in my typewriter when I came back from prowling for news. It looked like Private ("One-Shot") Bushemi's typing. "The stockholders of the Union of Hargrove's Creditors," it read, "will hold a business meeting this evening about seven o'clock in the latrine of Barracks No. 2, Headquarters Battery. Please be present or we will beat your head in."

It was the day before my furlough, so I got the general drift. The vultures who were contributors to the furlough would probably stand around frowning and figure out some sort of budget for my vacation. I could picture the blue-nosed demons slashing away at my enjoyment.

The meeting had an unexpectedly small attendance: Maury Sher, mess sergeant of Battery D of the Third and chairman of the ways and means committee of the Union; Private Bushemi, principal stockholder and president; and Private First Class Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill, chaplain.

Private Mulvehill beamed. "Sergeant Hart sends his regrets. He has a heavy heavy in Lillington. He is with us in spirit, though."

"Come in, drip," said Bushemi.

Sergeant Sher got down to business. "I've got to hand it to you, son," he said. "Gone through this much of the month and still haven't tried to get any of your furlough money back from the chaplain! We're all proud of you."

"Shucks," I blushed. "'Twern't nothin'. I was able to bum a cigarette here and there."

"McGee," said Mulvehill, clearing his throat, "you leave tomorrow for New York, where there are many snares to trap the unwary. Don't buy any gold watches in the park or any stolen furs anywhere. You know, I presume, about buying the Brooklyn Bridge."

"Now, we don't have any restrictions about the way you use your money," said Bushemi. "Only last time you spent too much money on

"Little man," she said, "will you please ask the waiter for more water?"

taxicabs. You'll have to use the buses and subway more this trip. All the shows you want to see, all the books you can buy—but taxicabs only for very special dates."

"Somebody has been exaggerating this taxicab—" I began.

"Taxicabs," Sher broke in, "only for very special dates. You may go to the opera once if you sit downstairs and twice if you sit in the Famile Circle. You are not to buy more than six theater tickets. In uniform, you can see all the movies you want for two bits each."

"And be conservative in tipping the waiters," said Mulvehill, tapping his glasses on the window sill. "Very conservative. Short-change them, if necessary."

"Tell him about the budget," said Bushemi, with unnecessary impatience.

"As the matter stands on the furlough deal," said Sher, "you owe Bushemi 22 dollars, me 10, Mulvehill 10, Hart 10. That's 52 dollars. Counting the ten you'll wire Bushemi for before the week's over, it's 62. With what money we have taken from you and given to the chaplain during the past few weeks, you should make out all right."

"Must I be treated as a child?" I asked.

"When you get back broke, McGee," said Mulvehill, "you are not to eat breakfast at the Service Club. You are not to take out any post exchange books. You will get your cigarettes from Sergeant Sher, who will ration them out to you as per budget."

Sergeant Sher, Private Bushemi and the other members of the Union of Hargrove's Creditors would have been quite pleased at the sight. Instead of spending their money lavishly on taxicab sightseeing trips and expensive shows, I was dining quietly in a conservative grillroom with the Redhead. We weren't even discussing ways to spend their hard-earned money.

"Little man," she said, "will you please ask the waiter for more water?"

"I beg your pardon," he said, rather unctuously. "There is a fifteen million gallon shortage in water at this very instant. On the other hand, madame, all supply ships to Great Britain use Scotch whisky as ballast for the return trip. Perhaps madame would like a glass of Scotch whisky?"

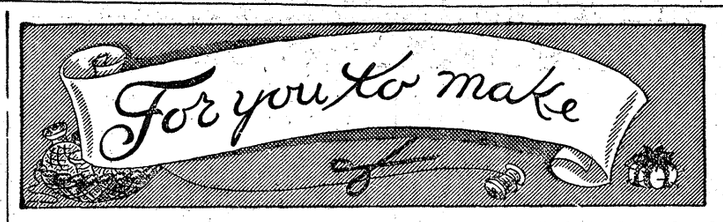

The Redhead lifted an eyebrow.

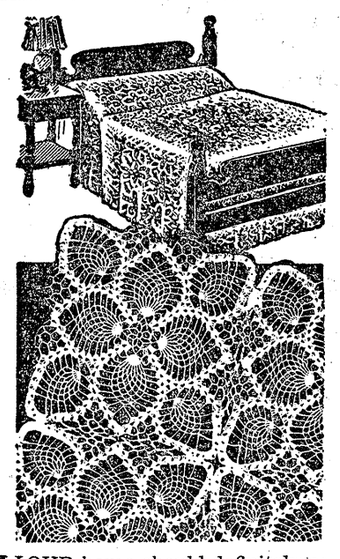

"I wonder," she said, "what they use in the finger bowls here—rubbing alcohol? I do not want Scotch whisky. I want water."

"It is as madame wishes," the waiter said, bowing from the knees. He walked away and returned again to lean against a post. The Redhead drummed her fingers on the tablecloth.

"Don't be afraid of him," said the Redhead. "Call his bluff."

Whale Can Hold Breath 45 Minutes: Blows Air

Although whales usually spend less than five or six minutes under water in a single dive, there are records of them being out of sight for 35 to 45 minutes. Yet the whale has no gills and must take its oxygen from the air and hold it in its lungs. Under water, its nostrils close and keep water from entering its lungs.

When the whale surfaces it blows out the air, which is moist and gives the appearance of a spout of water. Actually, no water comes from the heads of these monsters.

Whales weigh from 15 to 110 tons, but they are strong swimmers, bending their bodies as do fish. The whale has the largest head of any animal that ever lived.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Crackers and Chowder Harmonize!
(See Recipes Below)

Soup Satisfies!

There's not one dish in any cooking repertory that can even come close to fill the place of soup. It can be the appetite - tickler to start the meal, or a light, inspired concoction to do for luncheon, or a steaming hot, sturdy soup to be the meat, the vegetable and the main dish for a cool night's dinner while the wind blows hard outside.

If any crisis arises as far as your own point - ration allowance, then start exploring the fascinating possibilities of a few meaty bones, celery leaves, pungent onion, and a spray of parsley, chives, marjoram or chevril. Fat, cozy tureens of soup will ward off any hunger now as they have always done when food supplies are slender.

There's no doubt that the tureen will again become a part of your kitchen equipment—at least for the duration. You can make delicious soup out of almost anything—and soup can make the meal if you serve it with plenty of unrationed crackers. There are literally all kinds of these to go with any soup you care to name.

Here's a fish chowder that is rich, savory and thoroughly satisfying. Serve it with common or pilot crackers to make the meal. Or, if you prefer, oyster crackers, the round tasty type, saltines or plain soda crackers—any one will be a natural accompaniment:

Fish Chowder.
(Serves 8)

3 pounds haddock or cod
3 potatoes, sliced
3 medium-sized onions, chopped
3 slices salt pork, diced
8 crackers
1 quart milk
1 pint cream
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Salt and pepper

Cook fish in boiling water until done. Remove fish from water and cook potatoes and onions in fish water until soft. Fry salt pork until crisp. Skin and bone fish and add with pork scraps, to chowder. Soak split crackers in milk. Heat milk and cream with crackers, and add to chowder. Add butter or margarine, salt and pepper.

Here is another savory soup which will make a perfect main dish for the meal:

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: Now that butter has gone up in point value, you may have to learn to use other spreads such as margarine. Be sure to select a margarine that gives you a definite guarantee of the amount of vitamin with which it is enriched. To color the margarine, let it soften until smooth and creamy, add vegetable coloring and blend together. Let harden before using, if you want to cut it in squares.

Butter can also be stretched with a number of commercial or other stretchers. Select a stretcher that gives good consistency and does not change flavor.

If you're doing without a great deal of butter, here's how: Use margarines or shortenings for all cooking or baking. Save bacon and other drippings to use for frying. Occasionally, use jams, jelly and honey for spreads. Sandwiches can be spread with mayonnaise if the butter supply is low.

Scotch Broth.
(Serves 16)

⅔ cup dried barley
⅔ cup green, split peas
½ pound lamb shank
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts water
2 leeks or onions, chopped
2 carrots, diced small
1 turnip, diced small
1 pound cabbage, sliced
4 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 carrot, grated

Soak peas and barley overnight, in separate bowls. Place lamb flank in a large saucepan; add salt and cold water to cover. Bring to a boil and simmer 1 hour. Add leeks, carrots, turnip, cabbage, peas and barley. Simmer 1 hour. Add parsley and grated carrot. Stir well and serve.

Potatoes and onion are go-togethers in soup. Carry the harmony even further and serve with the soup, the round, toasty type of cracker:

Cream of Potato and Onion Soup.
(Serves 6)

4 onions
4 medium-sized potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups scalded milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Salt and pepper

Boil onions and potatoes together until tender. Drain, saving 1 cup of the water. Rub the vegetables through a coarse strainer. Melt the butter or margarine, add flour and blend until smooth. Add milk and potato-onion water, and combine with onion and potato pulp. Season with chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Beat with egg beater and serve at once.

Did you know that a cheese type of cracker is best with the tomato soups? It brings out the flavor of the soup better than any other kind of accompaniment:

Tomato Bisque.
(Serves 6)

4 cups milk
¾ cup stale bread crumbs
2½ cups canned tomatoes
1 small onion
6 cloves
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons sugar
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pour the scalded milk over the bread crumbs and rub through a sieve. Stew the tomatoes with the seasonings and strain. To the tomatoes, in which the soda has been dissolved, add the reheated milk mixture, and last the sugar and butter mixture. Serve at once.

A delicious bean soup has been many a cook's road to fame. It's not difficult at all if you make it this way:

Black Bean Soup.
(Serves 12)

1 pound black beans
2 cloves
2 sprigs thyme or 1 bayleaf
3 quarts water
1 onion, chopped
1 ham bone or ⅛ pound salt pork or 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Dash of salt

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Rinse and drain beans well. Place in kettle with rest of ingredients. Bring to a boil and let simmer 4 hours. Add more water from time to time, if necessary. Put through sieve and serve with slice of lemon and sliced hard-cooked egg.

THE SACREDNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 38-45.

GOLDEN TEXT—Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer.—I John 3:15.

Human life is sacred—and there is a very important reason why that is true. It is not because of any law of man, but finds its foundation in the fact that God created man in His own likeness and image. Because that is true, no man has any right to take the life of another for any cause except at the direct command of God. Only by the orderly process of law for the protection of society and in accordance with the Word of God may there be any such action by man toward man.

Both of these truths are declared in Scripture in God's covenant with Noah (Gen. 9:5, 6), which was made possibly a thousand years before the Ten Commandments were given to Moses.

One cannot deny that human life is held rather cheaply in many places today. War helps to create that attitude on the part of nations which makes them count boys and girls, yes, mere babies, as "war material."

But not only in war is life carelessly destroyed. We decry the "slaughter of innocents" on the highway, unnecessary death in industry, yes, even in the home.

I. The Prohibition of Murder (Exod. 20:13).

The word "kill" in this commandment is one which means a violent and unauthorized taking of life, and is therefore more properly translated "murder."

Not all killing is murder. A man may kill another entirely accidentally, or he may be the duly constituted legal officer carrying out the law of the land in taking the life of one who has forfeited his right to live because he has slain another.

There is also the right of self-defense, be it individual or collective as in war. But these are the only exceptions; let us not attempt to justify any other.

Murder is more prevalent than most of us suppose. Some years ago we were told that there was a murder every forty minutes in our land. With the general increase of crime, and of drunkenness (which so often incites murder), the current figures would probably show an increase.

Do not forget the deaths, the destruction of life, by avoidable automobile accidents. Some of these were really murder because the one responsible drove with defective brakes, dangerous tires, or while he was intoxicated. Add to these the deaths in industry caused by failure to provide proper safeguards or healthy working conditions, and by the exploitation of child labor, and we say that we should cry aloud, "Thou shalt do no murder."

II. The Provocation to Murder (Matt. 5:21,22).

Murder finds its provoking cause in the heart of man. Our Lord was concerned about correcting the desires rather than to apprehend the offender after the act had been committed. It is the better way, and the more effective one.

In this matter of murder, Jesus cut right through the outward aspects of the matter and pointed out that an angry hatred in the heart is the root of all murder. If we hate, we have murder in our hearts. Circumstances may hinder its fulfillment, but the danger is always there until we remove the cause.

Just being angry—calling our brother "raca" (the modern equivalent of which is "nobody there"), and calling him "thou fool," which classifies him as "morally worthless"—these are the three dreadful downward steps to murder. And they begin in anger.

May God help those of us who have strong feelings that we may not yield them to the devil in such anger against our brother!

III. The Prevention of Murder (Matt. 5:23-26, 38-45).

Prevention with God means more than putting up a barrier to keep us from killing. He deals with the heart, and thus puts the whole life right. It is not even a question of how we may feel against our brother. If he has aught against us we are to do all we can to win him. He may be unreasonable, grasping, and unfair. However, the spirit that will win him is not that of retaliation or sullen submission to the inevitable, but rather a free and willing going even beyond what is required.

It is clear from other scriptures that our Lord does not mean that wicked and unscrupulous men are to be permitted to defraud and destroy God's people. At the same time, we must be careful not to explain away the heart of our Lord's interpretation of this great commandment.

We who believe in Christ are to be in deed as well as word the sons of our heavenly Father (v. 45), loving not only those who are kind to us, but even our enemies.

Odd Wedding Costumes

Weddings among the Maori natives of New Zealand are a lot of fuss and feathers, principally feathers. The bride and bridegroom look like huge birds with human heads when they are decked out to "plight their troth." The man's garb is made of kiwi, pigeon and parrot feathers; the girl's entirely of kiwi feathers.

Just in case anyone objects to the union, the bridegroom totes as a weapon a pole of hard wood, decorated with a carved head and wild dogs' hair.

Record Crop of Potatoes

HARVEST COMPLETED. WAREHOUSE FACILITIES TAXED TO LIMIT

On the agricultural front the record crop of potatoes is perhaps the outstanding acomplishment of farmers this year. Early in the spring farmers were asked by the government to increase their acreage of potatos. Also price supports and loan programs were promised. As a result of these efforts farmers have met the challenge by the largest acreage of potatoes ever grown in recent years. The yield per acre has been exceptionally high and the quality of potatoes extremely fine.

As of the present time three growers of potatoes have exceeded a yield of over three hundred bushel per acre. They are William Shepard of East Jordan with Chippewas, Elmer Hott of East Jordan with Chippewas, and Charles Reidel, Boyne City with Green Mountain. Many other yields of from 275 to 300 bushel per acre have been noted. In fact nearly all of the potato growers who used good seed, sprayed adequately and fertilized to a reasonable degree secured over 200 bushel to the acre. Best of all never before have we enjoyed such a wonderful harvest season from the standpoint of weather as this year. Many farmers harvested their crop without having to delay a single day for rain or cold weather. Likewise, blight has been checked and field frosts were very slight.

Greater interest has been manifest in certified seed and also a new seed devedopment namely "War Approved Seed." This year the following old growers have certified seed: LeRoy Hardy, Boyne City — 5 acres of Russet Rurals; Ed Jensen, Walloon Lake, 20 arces of Russet Rurals; Lee Sneathen, Charlevoix — 27 acres of Russet Rurals and 1 acre of Irish Cobblers; Howard Stephens, Charlevoix —10 acres of Russet Rurals and Chippewas; and Don Fox, Boyne City 13 acres of Russet Rurals.

In addition there were 7 new growers of certified seed as follows: William J. Petts — 7 acres of Russet Rurals; August Jensen, Walloon Lake — 5 acres of Russet Rurals; Howard Skornia, Boyne City — 1 acre of Russet Rurals; Fred Brauer, Petoskey — 1acre of Russet Rurals; of Chippewas; Carl Grutsch, East Elmer Hott, East Jordan — 10 acres Jordan — 1 acre of Sebago; and Will Shepard, East Jordan — 5 acres of Chippewas.

Now in order to have available an adequate supply of high quality seed to meet the perspective demands for next spring we have fields that have been inspected and found satisfactory for what is called "War Approved Seed". This seed supply is only slightly inferior to certified seed and certainly much to be preferred over ordinary table stock. It is expected that farmers who need new seed will be interested in buying this war approved seed. The followin growers have been approved for "War Approved Seed." LeRoy Hardy, Boyne City, Russet Rurals; William J. Petts, Boyne City, Russet Rurals; Fred Brauer, Petoskey, Russel Rurals; William Shepard, East Jordan, Chippewas; and Clinton Blanchard, Charlevoix, Chippewas.

Anyone interested in contracting for next spring's seed requirements are invited to stop in and see the various lots of seed. Latest information indicatees that even a greater acreage of potatoes will be asked for by the Federal Government next year. Thus the importance of good seed is still a prime requisite in successful production.

Paint Poisoning Costly

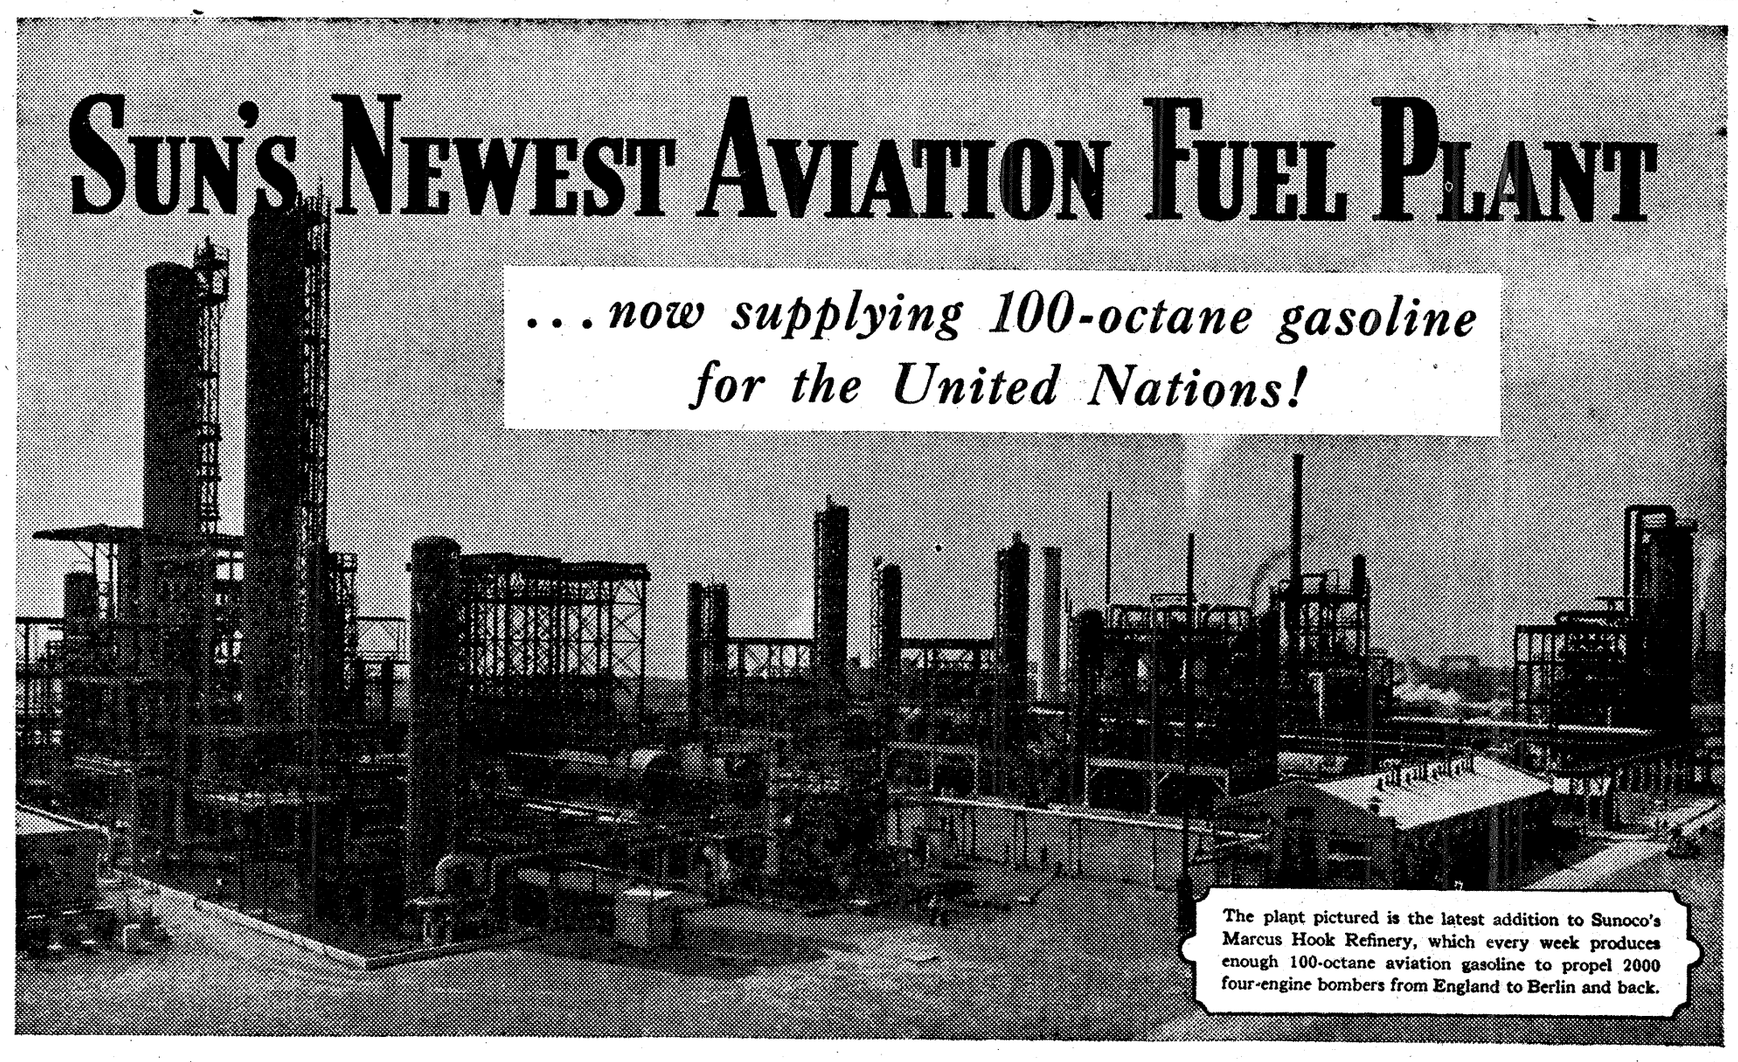

Michigan livestock may be superior, but pigs, cows, sheep and horses can't read "Wet Paint" signs, it is pointed out by Dr. J. B. Killham, livestock extension pathologist at MSC.

Cows are especially sensitive to lead poisoning from fresh painted surfaces and even more so if they lick contents of discarded paint cans or buckets. Mineral-deficient cattle, especially, are attracted to rubbish piles in which careless persons toss old paint buckets.

SUN'S NEWEST AVIATION FUEL PLANT

...now supplying 100-octane gasoline for the United Nations!

The plant pictured is the latest addition to Sunoco's Marcus Hook Refinery, which every week produces enough 100-octane aviation gasoline to propel 2000 four-engine bombers from England to Berlin and back.

Adds to Sunoco's position as one of the world's largest producers of aviation fuel !

Sunoco proudly dedicates a huge new aviation gasoline plant, the largest of its type in existence. In this self-contained plant, all petroleum components of aviation gasoline are produced and blended into the finest 100-octane fighting fuel.

The new plant, added to the giant facilities already in operation, makes our Marcus Hook refinery one of the largest producers of 100-octane aviation fuel in the world.

Sun First to Make Catalytic Cracking Commercially Practical

Sunoco's leadership really began long before Pearl Harbor, when the company first made commercially practical a now-famous process of catalytic cracking. No greater contribution has been made to the war effort. For, without the principle of catalytic cracking, Allied aviation fuel requirements could not have been met.

A Triumph of Private Initiative

Sunoco's entire aviation fuel program has been accomplished without government aid or subsidy. Facilities costing more than 36 million dollars are now devoted to war production in the company's Marcus Hook refinery alone. It is only through such free play of private initiative that all American progress has been achieved.
